Armistice Day Plans Are Worth While

The slogan for Armistice Day tomorrow is "Stay at home and celebrate." The Bucktail Post of the American Legion through a wide-awake committee has worked out a program which deserves the active support of every citizen of the community, for Armistice Day is an occasion for local, for community celebrating; it is one day when Smethport should be peculiarly for Smethport. Wherefore, "Stay at home and celebrate."

The program for the afternoon, which will be a half-holiday, observed by the closing of stores, industries and schools, is as follows:

1:30—Assembly of ex-service men at Hose House.

2:00—Public meeting in the Lyceum.

3:30—Parade.

4:00—Football game, Eldred high school vs. Smethport.

6:30—Annual banquet for ex-service men and their ladies.

9:00—Military ball.

One glance will serve to show that there is to be something doing every minute of the afternoon and evening, and no other place can provide more than that. Wherefore, "Stay at home and celebrate."

The afternoon meeting in the court house, which all are invited, will be addressed by W. H. Bunce, whose ability as a speaker is familiar. A feature of the program will be the presentation to ex-service men of Victory Medals which are being given by the government in recognition of war service.

The parade is in the charge of J. D. Hogarth, the marshall, and will follow directly the public meeting. The line of march is the customary one, down Main street to Pike, a return to Byron, and dismissal at the Court House.

Spice will be afforded by the football game between the Eldred and Smethport high schools, which will be played on Kane Field immediately after the parade. The local boys are all set for another victory after their fine success on last Saturday and are determined to add the scalp of the boys from down the valley to the other three that they are wearing at their belts. Eldred, however, judged by coparative scores against teams which both they and Smethport have played, have a pretty good aggregation too, and their efforts are sure to be spurred on by a big delegation of rooters.

The annual banquet of ex-service men of the community will be held in the evening at 6:30 in the basement of the M. E. Church. The committee has mailed notices to all members of the Post requesting information which will make possible the successful handling of the crowd. For the first time the banquet will be open to the ladies, as the result of the unanimous vote of the Post at their last meeting.

At 9 o'clock the Lyceum will be open for the annual military ball which regularly closes the Armistice Day celebration. Quirk's orchestra has been secured and it will be augmented by several other pieces, notably banjos and saxophones. The wisdom of the committee in their choice of music is vindicated by the experience of the large number of dancers who were in attendance at last year's ball and who pronounced the dances music at that time the best ever heard in the Lyceum.

The efforts of the ex-service men to give Smethport its own program for the day are entirely meritorious; give the Bucktails your support; "Stay at home and celebrate."

Small Fire On Saturday Afternoon

Saturday afternoon at about 4 o'clock the fire department were called to a fire in the house on King street directly across from the home of Carl Kohn, just outside of the borough, and now occupied by an Italian family and John Hesson's family.

The fire did not prove to be of a serious nature and was put out a few minutes after the alarm by the crew in charge of the chemical cart. It was not necessary to turn water on or to use the fire engine at all.

There seem to be several explanations for the start of the fire but the most probable seems to be that the loaves which were being put about the building in view of the approaching winter to keep the cellar warm, were ignited in some way. Little damage was done, thanks to the prompt arrival of the fire department.

STATE COLLEGE STUDENT RECEIVE SERVICE CROSS

State College, Pa., Nov. 11.—Before thousands of fellow students and visitors at the Pennsylvania Day and cadet regimental review at State College last Saturday Charles Reiter, of Pittsburg, was given the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action on the French front, by Adjutant-General Frank A. Beary. Reiter was a sergeant in the 111th Infantry, Twenty-eight division, when he rescued a companion under heavy machine gun fire in October, 1918, and later led his company to safety after all the officers had been disabled. He was wounded on both ocasions, and has been sent to Penn State by the government to study scientific agriculture.

RINN—KIDDER

Miss Norine Kidder, daughter of Mr. Alfred Kidder of Smethport and Walter Rinn, son of Dr. Rinn of Port Allegany, were married Wednesday morning, November 10, 1920, at the residence of Paul Swanson, 120 South Main street, Olean, N. Y., by the Rev. Hugh Boyd, minister of the Methodist Church. After the ceremony they left for Buffalo and other points of interest.

The bride is a graduate of Smethport High School and by her cheerful manner and accommodating ways has made many friends. She is one of Smethport's popular young ladies.

The groom is one of Port Allegany's most popular young men.

After November 15 they will be at home in Cleveland, Ohio.

The MINER unites with a host of friends in wishing this young couple a happy married life.

THREE DAYS OF CIVIL COURT

Civil court has held a fairly large number in town this week from outlying sections of the county. Present indications are that the calendar will be completed today with the case of the Mt. Jewett, Kinzua and Riterville R. R., otherwise known as the Kushequa, against the Newton Chemical Co.

Popular interest in the three days of court centered in the sentencing of two of the band of three auto thieves who two weeks ago made away with H. H. Redfield's Studebaker sedan. At the time of their capture in Jamestown, Russell Kightlinger, the nineteen year old leader and Jakeacks, whose real name appears to be Frank J. Jenkins, confessed their part in the affair, pleading guilty on all charges against them.

Both men drew stiff sentences in the penitentiary, Kightlinger getting not less than three years or more than five, and Jenkins not less than three and not more than four. The fact that both of the young fellows already had prison records behind them did anything but help them.

The third member of the gang, an Italian whose anme is given as Marino, plead not guilty to the charges made against him at the hearing in spite of the incriminating evidence given against him by Kightlinger and Jenkins. His case will come up at the next term of criminal court. Marino is a pretty slick lad, and has consistently refused to talk further than claiming absolute ignorance of the theft of the Redfield car.

Isaac Anderson, a negro from Bradford, also plead guilty to the charge of stealing clothing from a white man in that city, and he was sentenced to ninety days at hard labor in the Allegheny County work house.

Tuesday's session was given over entierly to the case of Miss Hattie Edmonds of Bradford, Pa., against the Protected Home Circle for the payment of a $1,000 insurance policy which the company had refused to pay upon the death of the insured, the mother of the plaintiff three years ago. The company claimed that death was due to suicide, but the plaintiff proved to the court's satisfaction that death was the result of heart disease, and the company was ordered to pay the full claim, together with interest to date.

AUSTIN ENJOYED THE MINSTRELS

Great success marked the first appearance of the Bucktail Minstrels in an out-of-town performance at Austin last Friday night. The theater of the community house was filled to capacity with a crowd that expressed itself through almost continuous applause as being more than satisfied with the program. They were so pleased they wanted a return engagement.

The evening's entertainment was virtually that presented here several months ago. The opening, in which about 18 took pait and which lasted for about an hour, was followed by Paul Moran with a few silos, Miller Stickles in his Houdeni act of escaping from a box, and by the clever vaudeville sketch put on by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mitchell. The performance was over at about 10 o'clock and the rest of the evening was devoted to dancing, music being furnished by Houghton's orchestra from Olean.

As was expected, a large number of Smethport people took the occasion to motor to Austin and enjoy an evening of real entertainment. Fully one hundred from this place, exclusive of those who had parts in the program, enjoyed the show and the dance, and it speaks well for the way in which the performance went off that the most of them claimed to enjoy the stunts as much as they had in the presentation here in Smethport.

Austin apparently had heard good things of the minstrels for shortly after the start of the program every seat was filled and it became necessary to bring in chairs and to place them in the aisles for the large number who arrived a little late. Several of the jokes had been worked over to permit the use of the names of Austin citizens and these were the source of a great deal of amusement.

The financial arrangements proved to be quite satisfactory and the community house fund is consequently considerably the richer for the visit of the Bucktail organization.

MODERN WOODMEN TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

The Modern Woodmen of America will hold an important meeting on Thursday evening, November 11.

The adoption of their large class has aroused interest and they will consider the desirability of meeting on the 2nd and 4th Thursday evening of each month and take steps to organize a first class degree team.

They expect to have some new books and everything will be thoroughly up-to-date and of interest to all Woodmen.

Preparations were made for a Oyster dinner for Thursday night but was postponed on account of Armistice Day.

THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Morning worship 10.30; sermon subject: "Can we afford to "scrap" the Christian Sunday." Evening worship 7:30; Sunday school 11:45; Junior Epworth League 3. This is not a church of "saints." We are just a group of real folks who are seeking fellowship in the best things. Jesus Himself, had no mission to the "unco guid." Give yourself and God a square deal, and worship at "the church of the friendly spirit."

LETTER FROM HON. H. R. HILTON

Above has been re-printed the complete program of the winter Chautauqua which will be held here November 15-17. Advertising has been placed conspicuously about the street giving complete information regarding each of the features so that between the two, program and advertising, a good idea of the treat in store for the community may be obtained.

As announced some time ago, the Swarthmore Chautauqua people are responsible for the talent. They are not new comers in this section as they have regularly provided Port Allegany each summer with first-class entertainment for a week. In fact, the citizens of that town have been so uniformly well satisfied with the treatment accorded them by the officials of the company and with the class of entertainment given them, that they have signed a contarct with them for five years.

The talent secured for Smethport is of the best. Whether lecturer or musical troupe the community is assured of stellar entertainment. Particular care has been taken that nothing of a cheap nature should be included, for the Chautauqua association of Smethport men and women who are responsible for these three days are ambitious for something even better for the future.

The guarantors, who have made possible the Chautauqua, are financially responsible to the Swarthmore association, and must make good up to a certain point with them. The community, which profits by their public interest, can show their appreciation by buying season tickets and thus help out the guarantors.

No eason tickets sold after Saturday.

President H. J. Rice of the Chautauqua Association is in receipt of the following letter from H. R. Hilton, written from Port Allegany:

BRADFORD TEAM LOSES GAME

St. Bernard's high school football team of Bradford put up a hard fight Saturday on Kane Field, but they were no match for the local high school boys who were out for blood in the hope of wiping out the memory of their disaster two weeks ago at Portville. Smethport walked off with the game with a score of 65-0.

The St. Bernard's boys were as fine sportsmen as have appeared here this year and they took their defeat without any quibbling or fault-finding. They were out-matched from the start of the contest but never once stopped trying and once came near to scoring.

The first touch-down was made within two minutes of the start of play. Smethport kicked off to St. Bernard's but the boys lost the ball on a fumble on their twenty-yard line, and the touchdown fas made on the next two plays. Two others were made during the same quarter, and

PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY

Harrisburg, Nov. 6.—Dr. C. B. Connelley, Commissioner of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, has called a public hearing on the proposed safety code applying to industrial ladders for Wednesday, November 10, at Harrisburg. The code is based on approved engineering practice, and it sets forth rules for the construction, use adn maintenance of various kinds of ladders. Specifications were drafted covering fourteen different types of ladders. The former code for Pennsylvania has been in effect since 1916, and many sweeping changes are contemplated by the state industrial board. For the various types of ladders, the new code prescribes different kinds of wood for side arils and rungs.

Returning to Normalcy

Washinton, Nov. 11.—"The victory of Senator Harding and the banishment of Wilsonism from the nation's councils is another manifestation of the inherent good sense of the American people and a renewed proof of the stability of the government under which they live," declares the Republican Publicity Association in a statement issued today by that organization through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "Led astray temporarily by the insidious blandishments and suave promises of men who controlled for the time being one of the great political parties, and convinced that nothing could interrupt the long period of prosperity to which they had become accustomed under Republican administrations, voters were inveigled into bringing about a change at Washington. But they have seen the folly of their misplaced trust and have emphatically declared that there must be a return to the old tried and true principles of sound government.

"They have decreed an end to that false altruism that would surrender the priceless heritages of America to the keeping of a group of foreign nations every one of which is jealous of the power and prestige of the United States and would rejoice at an opportunity to draw up its resoures for their own aggrandizement.

"The Republic has had a taste of autocracy such as few nations of the world have ever experienced. Gathering into his own hands all the executive power and much of the legislative, the people have seen their President contemptuously throw aside his responsibilty to them, and direct the affairs of government solely according to his own imperious will, uttering defiance the while to their duly chosen representatives in Congress. By their votes the people have said 'Stop!' The President must be the agent of our will, not his own.'

"The disgusting orgy of extravagance that has run ramoant through the years of Democratic control is another of the determining factors that precluded any doubt as to what the result of the election would be. Biding their time when they could shut down the bars against further waste of their substance, the people have patiently looked on while the wanton profligacy of the Wilson administration has run roit. They have had their revenge, and administered a rebuke that will drive the conspirators into retirement for all time.

The nation has detected a seeming bond of sympathy between its President and the Bolsheviki of Russia and the radicals within its own borders that has shocked its sensibilities and offended every decent citizen. Flirting with the Lenin government while he was in Paris, Mr. Wilson has repeatedly demonstrated his friendliness for the leaders of radicalism in his own country. It has been an association not becoming to America, an abrupt end to which has been brought by the election of Senator Harding.

"Wage earners and all other voters are alive to the fact that the rapid return of Europe to normal production once more means the flooding of our merkets with the products of cheap foreign labor and consequent disruption of the home market unless steps are taken to prevent it through the medium of a Republican protective tarriff. By the election of Senator Harding that has been made certain, and the welfare of the American workingman protected for the future.

"With Senator Harding in the White House Congress will return once more to its constitutional functions. Legislation by executive dictation will cease, and the laws that are passed and money that is appropriated will represent the combined wisdom of over 500 representatives of the people rather than that of a single mind. The country is about to be restored again under a government for the people instead of for a party or individual."

The Poindexter Anti-Sedition Bill

Washington, November11.—Prompted by the anarchy in Europe and the prediction of enormous increases in immigration to the U. States, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., calls attention to the main features of the Poindexter anti-sedition bill. "Heretofore officers of the executive branch of the government have excused their failure to cope with the 'Red' movement by asserting that there is in adequacy of law, "says the Asociation. "If the Poindexter bill shall be passed, there will no longer be such an excuse for failure to punish any man who attempts to interfere with peace and order in the United States.

"This bill provides severe penalties for all the crimes defined in its various sections. To begin with, it is made a felony to advocate, teach incite, propose, aid, abet, encourage, or advise forcible resistance to or the forcible destruction or overthrow of constituted government in general. or of the Government of the United States, its laws, authority, agents, or officals, or the governments of the States municipalities, or other constituted authorities within the United States in particular.

"The second section makes it a felony to advocate, teach, incite, propose aid, abet, encourage, or advise the unlawful injury or destruction of private or public property, or the unlawful injury of any person, or the unlawful taking of human life, either as a general principle or in particular instances, whether as a means of affecting political, industrial, social, or economic conditions or for any other purpose.

"In order to reach those seditionists who operate through organizations, such as the I. W. W., another section of the bill declares that any association, organization, society, or corporation one of whose purposes or professed purposes is to bring about any governmental, social, industrial, or economic change within the United States by the unlawful use of physical force, violence, or physical injury, or which teaches, advocates, advises, or defends the unlawful use of physical force violence, or physical injury to person or property or threats of such injury, to accomplish such change, and which shall by any such means porsecute or pursue such purpose or professed purpose, or shall so teach, advocate, advise, is herby declared to be an unlawful association.

"The bill then provides for the punishment of any person who acts or professes to act as an officer or representative of any organization such as described above. Other sections provide punishment for using or advocating force to bring about any governmental change, or leasing property to be used by persons in advocacy of acts made unlawful by the bill.

"Foreign born persons who have been naturalizd forfeit their citizenship upon conviction of any of the offenses described by the act, and if death shall result directly or indirectly from crimes made punishable under the measure, the person directly or indirectly responsible may be punished by death."

KHIVA BECOMES A REPUBLIC

Famous Khanate of Central Asia Has Definitely Rejected the Chains of Despotism.

So Khiva, the khanate in Central Asia through which Col. Fred Burnaby once rode on horseback to the capital, has declared itself an independent republic! That prodigious English soldier and traveler who won military glory fighting outside the endangered square at Abu Klea, in the Sudan, would smile hugely, no doubt, were he able to read the news. For the semi-barbaric city of Khiva as he found it on that famous ride in the seventies, or rather as the Russians found it just two or three years before, to be exact, was filled with slaves captured from the Persians by Turkoman raiders. Its whitewashed houses, scattered amid the elms and poplars, produced a welcome effect, however, after the countless miles of arid steppes which had to be negotiated before it could be reached. Its citizens were those weirdly named "cousins" of the Turks, the Uzbegs, Kirghiz, Sarts, Tajiks and the Kara-Kalpaks, or Black Bonnets of the Turki tribe whom the caliph would fain gather into the family fold. The khanate is but the relic of the once great kingdom of Chorasmia, over which King Darius ruled by means of his satraps.—Christian Science Monitor.

PLAN SCHOOL ON SHIPBOARD

Socialistic Council of Bradford, England, Is Considering the Adoption of Remarkable Scheme.

When it became necessary to erect a new secondary school in Bradford, the rich wool textile center of England, the usual estimates were asked for, and reported, in the total sum of $500,000.

Socialists, who have a considerable majority on the Bradford education committee, at once decided to break free from tradition, and adopted the idea of buying a suitable seagoing ship for that amount, one big enough for a couple of hundred children. These children will be sent to sea for a six-months or 12-months period, if a subsequent suggestion is adopted.

It is still to be settled whether the ship schoolhouse will remain moored in Bradford canal docks, only going to sea as a freighter during vacation periods, or whether it would not be in the interests of a general education to let the scholars see glimpses of foreign ports, learning their languages among natives, the ship at the same time being loaded with cargoes that would pay full maintenance expenses, probably even of the boarding of the children.

NOTICE

The Potato Creek Railroad Company hereby gives notice that on the eighteenth day of October, 1920, it filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, at its office in the city of Washinton, D. C., an application for permission to abandon a portion of its line of railroad situated in the counties of Potter and McKean, in the state of Pennsylvania, and for authority to construct a branch line of railroad in the County of McKean, state of Pennsylvania.

Pursant to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the said application is now published as follows:

Before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

APPLICATION No.

In re application of the Potato Creek Railroad Company for a certificate of Public Convenience and necessity, evidencing the Commission's approval of the abandonment of a portion if the petitioners' railroad and of the construction of a branch.

TO THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION:

The Potato Creek Railroad Company hereby makes application for a certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity, under the provisions of paragraphs (18) to (22) inclusive of Section 1 of the Interstate Commerce Act as amended by Section 405 to the Transportation Act, 1920, and sets forth:

(1) The full names and post office addresses of the applicant carrier, its president, its secretary and its attorney, are as follows: Potato Creek Railroad Company, Norwich, McKean County, Pennsylvania: R. R. Lewis, President, Coudersport, Potter Co. E. A. Mayor, Secretary, Marine Trust Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y., Archibald F. Jones, Attorney, Coudersport, Pennsylvania.

(2) The applicant carrier is a corporation organized under the general railroad laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of constructing a standard gauge railroad from the village of Keating Summit, in the County of Potter, to the village of Clermont, in the County of McKean, State of Pennsylvania:

(3) The making and filing of this application was duly approved and authorized at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the applicant carrier duly called and held on the 28th day of September, 1920, at its office in the village of Norwich, McKean County, Penn'a.

(4) All of the portion of the line of railroad proposed to be abandoned is in the counties of Potter and McKean, in the State of Pennsylvania, and all of the branch proposed to be constructed and operated is in the said County of McKean.

(5) (a) The applicant carrier desires to abandon the portion of its line extending form its eastern terminus at Keating Summit, where it connects with the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad, to its connection with the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Liberty, Pennsylvania, a distance of about two and one half miles; and upon the completion of the branch hereinafter mentioned to abandon the portion of its line of railroad extending from said connection at Liberty to the village at Norwich, a distance of about awelve miles.

(b) The applicant carrier proposes and desires to construct a branch line from its western terminus at Keyston, a distance of about two miles, north to a function at Hamlin siding with the line of the Pennsylvania railroad which runs from Larrabee, McKean County, to Johnsonburg, Elk County, Penn'a.

(6) The railroad of the applicant carrier was originally constructed to carry traffic derived from extensive lumbering operations. These operations have practically ceased and there is not now, nor will there be in the future sufficient business to require the continuance of the portion of the railroad proposed to be abandoned. The Pennsylvania Railroad and the branch proposed to be constructed will adequately serve the remaining industries and will answer all requirements of public convenience and necessity. In the judgment of its officers the present railroad of the applicant carrier cannot be operated except at loss.

(7) If objection should be made by anyone to the proposed abandonment and construction of the branch, applicant desires an opportunity to produce evidence before the Commission or an examiner and be heard by counsel.

WHEREFORE, the applicant carrier prays your Honorable Commision to issue a certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity permitting it to abandon the said portion of its railroad and to construct the proposed branch.

POTATO CREEK RAILROAD COMPANY
By R. R. Lewis.
Its President

State of Pennsylvania, County of McKean, ss:

R. R. Lewis, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is president of the Potato Creek Railroad Company and that the facts set forth in the above and foregoing petition aer true and correct according to the best of his knowledge, information and belief.

"GALLERY GODS" HAD POWER

Actors Respected Those Who Sat Among the Clouds in Old Drury Lane Theater, London.

Nearly every American has at some time in his career, generally the earlier part of it, been a "gallery god." That is to say, he has seated himself high in the topmost gallery of a theater, to follow with tenseness the adventures of the heroine and hero. How he obtained his title of "gallery god" is a matter that goes back a great many years, to the old English Drury Lane theater in London.

The theater was decorated in a somewhat giddy manner, with cupids and cherubs scattered about in careless confusion. To carry on the motif of airy summer days peopled with lightsome creatures of fairy gardens, the decorators painted the ceiling a bright blue, and then placed puffy white clouds here and there to represent the sky, with the smirking faces of wee angels and fairies peering out.

The gallery was built to get money, and not to give any particular comfort to those who paid their penny or so to sit there, so that the heads of the gallery sitters were in reality among the clouds. The actors had a great respect for this gallery, nevertheless, for its displeasure was manifested by booing in no uncertain tones, and the combination of painted sky, and the desire for the approval of the gallery provided the phrase "gallery gods."

PAINTED OVER COURT FINERY

Ruse by Which Nuns Had Queen Depicted as a Member of Their Religious Order.

Through a chance discovery in the garret of a ducal palace in Madrid, a three-hundred-year-old romance of a wonderful Velasquez has been revealed. Hidden for three centuries as a picture of a nun, this portrait of Queen Isabella of Spain, the first wife of King Philip IV, has recently been restored in London.

In the disguised picture practically nothing but the face and hands of the original was left uncovered, and the secret was first guessed at owing to the paint peeling away from the nun's hood, when there was revealed the fringe of a lace collar.

Princess Isabella of Bourbon was married to Philip in 1615, and in 1624 was staying in the convent of the nuns belonging to the order of the Descalzos. As a mark of the kindness she there received she presented the nuns with this Velasquez portrait of herself.

Later Isabella wished to enter the convent, but the pope would not consent. The inmates of the convent called in a painter, and secretly instructed him to paint out the queen's court dress and the lace handkerchief in her left hand, and to present her in the complete garb of a professed nun.

Excellence Need Fear No Rival.

Multitudes of employees constantly live in terror of some one who, they fear, is after their place. They are suspicious of office politics, suspicious that somebody working close behind them is trying to crowd them out. What is the result? This fear and suspicion interferes with their advancement to the place above them. Instead of looking back and thinking of the men after their place they should, instead, look about to the man above them, and be prepared for an advance when there is a vacancy. Perfect yourself in your line of work and you need never have any fear of others' rivalry. There is always room at the top for the man or woman who has stamped the trademark of individuality, superiority and distinctiveness upon his or her work. Such a one need have no fear of the usurpation of his rights by others. His position is assured.—Orison Swett Marden in the New Success.

In Algerian Bazaars.

Cobbled steps mark the ways of the Moors in the Kasbah, the native quarter of Algeria, and once the traveler leaves the streets where street cars clang and Europeans walk, he must climb. Pepperpods and onions hang in rosaries beside bazaars. Mosques are hidden here and there in nests of houses, and cafes are open to the street with the guttural gossip of the Arab drinkers and the click of dominoes drifting outward.

Sandals of leather, laced and filled with golden threads, are made by black-eyed Arab girls with long, soft eyelashes. Some of these girls are only twelve years old, but married; and they sit on carpets, twittering through their veils at passersby, meanwhile embroidering deftly the things they have to sell for gold.—Century Magazine.

First Girl Ever Photographed.

While France claims to have invented photography through the genius of Daguerre, the painter, America is proud of the fact that it was one of her sons who photographed the first face.

After years of patient labor Daguerre succeeded in taking sunlight pictures of scenery on a sensitive plate.

This was in 1839, and a year later Prof. John W. Draper of New York took a photograph of his sister Dorothy, the first person to have her likeness reproduced on a prepared background with the help of the sun's rays.

It took an hour to take the photograph, and the picture may still be seen.

POTTER—SCHREIBER NUPTIALS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday, when Miss Mary B. Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Frank Potter, of Smethport, formerly of the city of Kane, became the wife of Harry G. Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schreiber of Sergeant. The ceremony was preformed at the St. Callistus, at 7:30 o.clock by the Rev. Father D. S. Sheehan.

The young couple were attended by Mrs. L. F. Siegel and William Schreiber, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was attractively attired in a dark blue suit with a hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of tea roses. The bridesmaid was gowned in a brown suit and wore a corsage bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a three-course wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nagel. The tables were tastefully decorated in yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The happy couple left at noon for Buffalo, Cleveland and Erie, after which they will be at home in their apartment at the New Nemng.

Mrs. Schreiber is a well know talented young lady of Kane. She is the competent stenographer in the law office of Mullin & Wood. The groom is equally popular with a host of friends in Kane who extend congratulations to him and his bride.—Kane Republican.

Letter From Hon. H. R. Hilton

Dear Sir.—I am glad to see that Smethport is to have a winter Chautauqua. Your business men and citizens are to be commended for making this possible.

Our annual summer Chautauqua has so grown upon the people of the community that it is now the one big event of the year, looked forward to with interest and remembered with pleasure and profit. Its educational value is great. It brings us in touch with the best thinking and the best minds of the day. It keeps us in touch with the progress of the world along moral and educational lines, interspersed with clean educational entertainment.

But its greatest value, it seems to me, is along social lines. It brings together under one big tent the best people of both town and country who thus have an opportunity to know each other as they have never done before, and it is now easier to get their co-operation when any good movement is to be launched for the benefit of the whole community.

After the Chautauqua is over you will appreciate the value of the Junior work where children are taught to enjoy sports in a courteous gentlemanly and lady-like way without any loss of zest for the game. The effect of this work is reflected in the home and school room.

I might add that we do not have to worry about finances any more. The tickets sell themselves. Our farmers are patronizing the Chautauqua just as much as the town people.

H. R. HILTON.

BAPTIST CHURCH

A very impressive service was held last week when Noble I. Mack was ordained to the Baptist ministry. Sessions were held afternoon and evening. Rev. Carr of Ulysses, Pa. preached the regular ordination sermon in the evening, his topic being "Your God and My God," after which the ordination of Rev. Noble I. Mack was performed by the laying on of hands.

Preaching next Sunday by the pastor. Morning worship at 10:30 o'clock. Sunday school at 11:45 o'clock. Bring your children up right and have them attend the Sunday school. Preaching service in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Prayer meeting next Friday night at 8 o'clock. Notice the change of hour from Thursday night to Friday.

the ball was on the two-yard line all ready to go over for the fourth when time was called. The score at the end of the first quarter was 19-0; at the end of the half 46-0; at the end of three quarters 53-0.

—The fact-of-the-matter-is-that the Smethport boys went into the game with a determination to win that would have made the going pretty rough for any high school team hereabouts. Their play was characterized by a vim and dash that was irresistible. The line held or charged through at will and the backs apparently gained when and where they chose. Most of the gains were made on straight football end-runs, and line plunges, but the trick formations also worked well occasionally. Lack of practice was probably the reason that they failed to go consistently.

The team was scheduled to play in Emporium Saturday, a return game to be played off here Armistice Day, but at the last minute it was necessary to make a change since Emporum is unable to get up a team without using men who are not eligible to play high school football. The management was fortunate in getting St. Bernard's to fill the date. The game scheduled for Armistice Day will be played against Smethport's old rivals, Eldred, and undoubtedly the change in teams will work out well in the favor of town fans.

WHISKEY RING IS BLAMED FOR PENNA. MURDER

Olean, November 5.—Sam Belino, the young Austrian whose bullet-riddled body was found in the bed of a creek near Coudersport, Pa., several days ago may have ben the victim of "bootleggers." That is the theory the police are now working on, and in connection with it they believe the actual killing of Bellino took place in the suburbs of this city.

Today it was said they were possessed of important information indicating they are proceeding along correct lines. It would not be prudent, they said, to make public the nature of their information until they have checked it fuly.

Bellino whose home was in Union street in this city, was last seen alive in the early days of last week, it is said, when he finished testifying for the prosecution in a liquor sales case at Little Valley, and started for a trolley car about to leave for Salamanca. Although the police say their definite information concerning him ceases at that point, they nevertheless feel confident in the believe the young man was slain in the vicinity of Olean.

Following out their theory that he was killed here, the police say they believe the body was transported at night on a mortor truck to the point in the Pennsylvania hills where it was later discovered. There were 33 bullet holes in the body.

Bellino's body is still being held in an undertaker's shop in Couderport. It will not be brought back to this city for burial unless some relative of the young man can be found to claim it and pay the expenses of transportation. So far as the police have been able to learn, the young man has no relatives in Olean.
